Command Sourcing is proud to offer some great property security options. These lock systems eliminate the need for keys. Options include EVO combination locks, PAD keypad locks, and AIR RFID locks. Each set up is customized to your needs. EVO and PAD locks can optionally be managed by a system of user inputted random codes or randomly generated ones for one time use. Software generated codes can then be sent to the users mobile device in email or SMS. This may allow the temporary storage of personal items in a shared space or for the transition of ownership of an important document for example. The RFID locks can be set up for a single user's keycard or for select user groups to have access to supplies, emergency cabinets, gun cabinets, or etc. May be integrated into current 13.56 MHz RFID. All of these options can be used on storage of most every shape and size. Stop chasing keys and chase the bad guys.
